

CHURCH PLANTING CENTERS

Texas

Christ clearly commands believers to go into all nations—including our own—and make disciples. A partnership among several Texas Baptist agencies, including local churches, the Mission Funding Council and the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, is working to do just that.

Through the innovative Church Planting Center Residency program, potential church planters are given comprehensive training, education, support and equipping to start New Testament missional churches. They are training ministers to start churches who share the Gospel with the lost, and then who train their new believers to go forward and share the Gospel with others. The need for church planters in Texas is crucial to reach the growing population of Texas with the hope of Christ. Currently, Texas Baptists have CPC locations in Houston and Fort Worth, with plans to expand to other regions.

The Cooperative Program funds ministries such as the CPC Residency Program which is helping to spread the Gospel to every corner of Texas and beyond.

Pray for the CPC program, that God would call out workers and bring forth the harvest.
